"JES' THE OLD WOMAN AN' ME."

The task of Time is to roll away
Them's the words that I allus say
Each Thanksgiving an' Christmas Day.

For after you've reached three score an' ten

It goes like a gallop'n' race-hoss
then;

It's hardly here when away it's gone
An' another Christmas comin' on!

Well, so it is, an' so 'twill be,

you see;

Jes' the old woman an'—me.

II.

Jes' the old woman an' me . . .

For long

We've walked the way with a sigh or song.

With never of anything goin' wrong
Till the children come to say goodbye;

And then the first star left the sky:
Till one by one they went away.

As left us here, as you see today,
An' another Christmas comin' on!

Well, so it is, an' so 'twill be,

flakes are tossed,

Seems allus singin' of somethin' lost . . .

Something lost, that'll come no more

Gleams o' the dreams that have gone before;

An' I hear myself to my own self say:

"It's a lonesome world when you're old an' gray!"

Yet Love still lives an' is glad to be
With Jes' the old woman an'—me.

Some o' these days o'er the River's foam

We'll hear the message that calls us
Home;

An' if the Angel, crowned and fair, Should speak the challenge of

"Who comes there?"

I'd say, where the saints in glory be:
"Two tired travelers, as you see—

Jes' the old woman an'—me."

Two Women—a Paralle.—

Montgomery Journal.

There was once a woman, and she was fair to look upon, as good and innocent as she was beautiful. So her husband and her children loved her much. She always stayed by her hearthstone ministering to those whom she loved, and her thoughts were never beyond the four walls bounding her home.

On cold winter nights when the wailing of those who are on the outside in the world came faintly to her ears, or in summer when sometimes the hot winds brought the sounds of the gasping sick children who languished in the terrible horror places of the world outside, she drew her children into her motherly arms and thanked Providence that her little ones were not as those other children who starved and worked and died outside.

And her goodness of mind and soul caused the semblance of a halo to shine about her head, so that her husband loved her more and more and bethought himself that he was blessed above the common lot in that he possessed such a wife.

Now there was another woman, and as she sat by the fire ministering to those whom she loved, she heard the sighing and weeping of the poor children of the world, and she was much troubled. So she to the hungry a part of the food she saved for her own children, but it was not enough.

Then, in horror and pity, she went even into the market places in the great world and to the men of the markets, and she besought them to help her feed and care for the sick and hungry children.

But the men of the world said,
"Nay, this is no proper thing that you do. Behold you harm yourself, and are of no benefit to those whom you would reach. Go back, then, to your own fireside where your work is and content yourself."

So she bent upon her breast with her clenched hands, and she called aloud to the men of the market place, "Oh, wicked and cruel men!
These, your own children of the world hunger in body, mind and soul, and you refuse them the breath of life."

Then she went as one crazed into the treasure houses of the markets, and snatched food and drink and other treasures, and took them away to give them to those who cried.

And the righteous men of the market lot her go in pity, only saying, "Now behold how she contaminates herself and brings discredit upon her husband."

But the first woman sat beside the fire and was happy and beloved because her own lived in peace and comfort.

General Federation of Women's Clubs Outnumbers United States
Standing Army.—

Montgomery Journal.

One day fifteen years ago a man who wanted a list of names of women men to use for advertising purpose applied to the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs—

the late Mrs. Jennie June Croly—and asked the favor of copying them.
He said he would take the list away with him if she would permit him to do so, and would return it that same afternoon.

"What you suggest is impossible for more than one reason," said Mrs. Croly. "Even if I gave my consent to your copying the list you would have to send two copyists here, and it would take them a week to do the work."

This was fifteen years ago.

There were then 800,000 names enrolled. Since that time the General Federation has been increased until there are now 1,600,000 members. There are forty-eight state federations and 6,000 clubs. There are still many clubs to ally themselves to this great organization as this. To those who seek to commercialize it the suggestion with the possibilities is amazing.

It certainly was not within the intention of the founders of this great body to propagate any social movement. Very early in its history, however, the various legislative committees with the intention of asking small corrections for existing evils in the various states.
As time passed on the demands made by these legislative committees at the command of the State Federations had grown broader and more far-seeing.

These committees annually reported to their Federations that they found a serious handicap in the way of securing the legislation desired,

HORSE RACING IN DOTHAN CHRISTMAS

Executive Committee of Fair Association Discussing Plans This Afternoon.—Seven Horses Training Here.

Plans for the up-keep of the race track at the fair grounds and the proposition of having a number of horse races in Dothan during the Christmas holidays, will be discussed by the Executive Committee of the Southeast Alabama Fair Association this afternoon.

The committee is to meet about 2:30 or 4:00 o'clock in the office of Secretary Fred Thomas for a discussion of the various problems involved. The suggested plans include having horses here from Headland, Abbeville, Marianna, Fla., and other towns for a day or two of sport at some period during the holidays.

President John Sanders, former President E. R. Porter, Secretary Fred Thomas and H. A. Denton, inspected the race track this morning, and had an informal conversation relating to the prospects of the association.

There are now seven horses here which will be trained on the Dothan track. Four horses, belonging to C. A. Bass, of Bainbridge, Ga., reached the city today, accompanied by a colored trainer. C. H. Cushing is training three horses for Valdosta, Ga., people, and he will probably receive several more horses owned by Southeast Alabama people to train. Mr. Cushing has been in this city since October.

Officers of the fair association are expecting the fair next year to be one of the largest and most interesting from all points of view ever held in this section, and plans are already being discussed for next year's work.

Waveross, Ga., Nov. 30.—Tonight the departure for Rockford, Mich., of a young lady known as Miss Virginia Hall, but who since November 9, has been Mrs. A. G. Anderson, gave way a secret marriage performed in Waveross.

Mr. Anderson left Waveross for Rockford the night of his marriage, his wife remaining here as Miss Virginia Hall in responsible position in a local store. The couple planned to announce their marriage next June, but Mr. Anderson secured an expected position earlier than he anticipated, so wired for his wife to join him. She came here from Iron, Ohio. Only the pastor, Rev. J. C. Flanders, and a member of his family, knew of the marriage.

STRIKERS FIGHT THEIR FOES

Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 30.—Several reports of attacks on non-union miners in Hartford and Prairie Creek, which have been the centers of the recent mining troubles in the Hartford valley district reached here today. None was definite. It was asserted also there had been no trouble at the mining camp at which Federal troops are stationed.

A private of the United States cavalry was arrested today by the city marshal of Hartford in connection with a fight with miners at a dance Thanksgiving night. He was released later on a $700 bond. Major McClure, in command of the federal troops, notified town officials to have no hesitation in arresting troopers who violated civil laws.

Etherbert Stewart of the Department of Labor continued his investigation of conditions in the mining districts.

THREE MEN ARE SHOT IN FIGHT OVER WOMAN

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 30.—Arthur Burton of Paducah, Ky., was killed and Frank Bennett and Burk Lucas seriously wounded in a shooting affray at Osceola, Ark., a river town, on Sunday, according to a news dispatch received here today. Lucas and Bennett, it is alleged, became involved in a quarrel over the latter's wife, in which both were badly wounded. Burton was killed by Robert Dean, a deputy sheriff, according to report, when Dean went to investigate the shooting. All the parties involved lived in a houseboat except Bennett's wife, who, after separating from her husband, occupied a tent near the houseboat only.

PRESIDENT WILSON COMMENDS THE RED CROSS SEAL SALE

Washington, Dec. 1.—"May I not particularly express my interest in the Red Cross Christmas Seal," says President Wilson in a letter to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, made public today. Beginning today, every letter going out of the White House for the next four weeks and from many of the government offices bears the Red Cross Seal.

As an expression of his interest in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, President Wilson writes to Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

"May I not take this occasion to express to you my deep interest in the work of the National Anti-Tuberculosis Association and my hope that its work is growing in efficiency and extent from year to year? May I not particularly express my interest in the Red Cross Christmas Seal whose sale has been the means of raising funds for the work? It seems to me that this is a particularly interesting and sensible way of enabling the people of the country to give this great work their patronage and assure you if you will support."

Belgians Returning To Antwerp

Previous to the occupation of Antwerp by the German troops thousands of inhabitants hurriedly fled, taking only their valuables and the few belongings they could carry. Shortly after the occupation the Germans declared there was no need of flight and thousands of residents returned to their homes.

Restrictions to be Removed From N. Y. Cotton Trading

Managers Decide Measures Unnecessary—Slight Decline Both in New York and New Orleans. Day's Exports Exceeded the Receipts—Real demand for Cotton.

New York, Nov. 30.—The board of managers of the New York cotton exchange announced, after a special meeting today, that it had decided to rescind the various restrictions made necessary to meet the emergencies which arose while the exchange was closed. A return to normal trading conditions made such measure unnecessary, it was said.

The cotton market was more or less irregular and unsettled today. Fluctuations seemed chiefly attributed to further evening up of December contracts. Lower Liverpool cables and the circulation of December notices, estimated at about 3,000 bales, were followed by an opening decline of 6 points on December, while other months were unchanged to about 5 points lower. There was considerable Liverpool buying of the near position, as well as some scattered covering and a moderate investment demand for October, which steadied the market shortly after the call, and sent prices some 4 to 7 points net higher. Around 7.37 for December, however, there was renewed liquidation and that position eased off to 7.20 or 10 points net lower, with later deliveries selling some 4 to 7 points under Saturday's close. There was enough demand to check the decline.

at this level, and last prices showed slight rallies on covering with the close steady at a net loss of 1 to 2 points. Three private crop estimates were issued, with a New Orleans authority placing the yield at 15,750,000 bales, a Memphis estimate of 14,988,000, and an estimate by members of the Memphis cotton exchange of 15,529,000 bales on the average, linters being excluded in all three figures.

FRANK'S APPEAL TAKEN

TOWHOLE C. S. COURT

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 30.—The remitter in the Frank case, it is expected, will be withheld from the superior court on account of news from Washington, that the United States supreme court, which reviewed the appeal presented by the prisoner's lawyers yesterday, will not hand down their decision until next Monday.

Frank's application for a review of his conviction and trial was carried before the entire court in Washington Monday morning after having been previously denied by two justices.

Chief Justice White received the motion, saying that the court would take the papers and give them careful consideration. A decision it is said, will likely be announced next Monday.

T. H. Carr, engineer, 200 West Washington Street, Dothan, says:

"About eight years ago I hurt my back and from then on, I suffered a great deal from my kidneys. For several years I was in bad shape and sometimes hardly able to get around. My back ached all the time and if I bent over to lift anything, I could hardly straighten up again. Numerous remedies did me no good. ST MEN WERE KILLED WHILE OUT DRINKING

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 30.—Twenty-seven deaths from Milwaukee accidents in northern Wisconsin. Michigan is the toll in these districts so far as known during the fall season ending at midnight.

Of this number, twenty-four were slain in Wisconsin and more than were killed in 1913. Michigan there were thirteen deaths.

GOOD PROGRESS ON CITY HALL

That the city hall building will be completed in time for the annual convention of the Alabama School Association, which convenes here in April, is the opinion of Contractor Brown, who says that good headway is being made on the job. No delays of consequence have been experienced so far, and it is not likely that there will be any unless the stone to be used in the structure fails to reach here in time. In that event it is hoped that the delay, if any, will be short.

Work is also progressing on the second story which is being added over the Favorite Cafe, East Main street, and when completed this will be used as a hall by the Elks. The Elks hall will connect with the Martin hotel and with the cafe downstairs. J. W. Daughman is the contractor.

MODERN WOODMEN MEETING

There will be a meeting of the local lodge Modern Woodmen in the hall over Nix's drug store Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, and no matter of importance will come up for discussion. It is urged by the officers that all members be in attendance.

GRANTED A DIVORCE, MRS. MANNING AGAIN FIVE MINUTES LATER

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 30.—Five minutes after she had been granted her divorce Mrs. Lena Hudson, of 44 Borean avenue, married J. W. Dickson.

The final decree in Mrs. Hudson's divorce was given by Judge Holt. She left the court room with Mr. Dickson and went to the chambers of Judge Ridley, where the marriage was performed. This is her third marriage venture.

Her first was with J. Pritchard, a northerner. She stated Monday that she was forced to support him throughout their married life and that this was her ground for divorce. Her grounds for the divorce from Hudson was non-support.

FOREIGN BATTLESHIPS.

Commercial Appeal.

Twenty-seven foreign battleships and 17 representing the United States will accompany President Wilson through the Panama canal on the date of its official opening, on March 10. The itinerary and plans for this spectacular event have been publicly announced. Lieutenant Commander Needham L. Jones, naval aid to the president, has charge of the affair.

Battleships of Germany, of England, of France, of Russia, of Austria and other nations now engaged in war will steam through the canal companions in peace. War guns will be silenced, except to salute the American flag in honor of the occasion.

It will be necessary for Russia to send her selected battleships from a distant point. Three representatives of superdreadnoughts representing Germany will have to leave the Kiel Canal and journey across the ocean. France and England will also have to draw from their squadrons now stripped for battle.

It seems strange when the war gods are at each other's throats that war should be forgotten long enough to pay this tribute of respect to a neutral nation.

Germany's battleships will sail through the North Sea unmolested. They will join or will meet in American waters the ships of other nations. There will be no warlike manifestations. War will be forgotten. After the parade through the canal and their visit to the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco these selfsame ships will return to the points from which they sailed and terms of peace will be made.

The foreign ships will arrive at Hampton Roads between Feb. 10 and 15. There they will be joined by the United States fleet. It will be an historic gathering; these giants of war assembling in perfect harmony in Hampton Roads. Guns will roar of course, but they will be honored guns paying national tribute to the greatest government in the world. The foreign officers will be escorted to Washington where they will be entertained, and they will be present when President Wilson presses the button which will set in motion the great machinery of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. On February 22 President Wilson will review the spectacular gathering in Hampton Roads and will later sail on the battleship New York for Cuba.

The preliminary arrangements seem interesting enough, but the most interesting feature of all will be the gathering of a friendly collection of the ships of nations engaged in war.

WHEN IGNORANCE IS SUBLIME.

There are people in this country who do not believe the war is the cause of cheap cotton. They believe that "them Wall Street fellows" have used the war as an excuse to run the price of cotton down, and thus enrich themselves at the farmer's expense. A serious letter holding this view was recently published in an Alabama weekly paper and to prove his contention by granny, the writer showed that cotton was bringing from 18 to 20c per pound in parts of Germany.

It is hardly worth while to reason with people of this kind. But it may be said in passing that while it is true cotton is bringing 18 cents in Germany—wherever Germany can land the cotton on her soil—it is equally true that ice water would bring from $18 to $20 a gallon in Hades, if all accounts are authentic.

The war on land and sea and in the air has practically driven cotton barriers and other steamers from the seas. Only recently did the warring nations make it clear that they would regard cotton as non-contraband. That announcement helped the situation some. But the demand for cotton in the warring countries hitherto our principal markets, has gone down to a minimum. Few people are able to buy cotton goods, and fewer still are able to manufacture it. Most of the spindles of Europe have been in the quiet embrace of cobwebs for three months.

As to Wall Street's part in the matter, the point raised is unworthy of consideration. Until very recently the New York Cotton Exchange and other trading exchanges on the street were closed and it is said 50,000 former employees of Wall Street were walking the pavement hunting jobs.

Cotton will go up when there is an increased demand for cotton and not before.—Montgomery Advertiser.

The Sunday Montgomery Journal makes a creditable start in the Sunday morning field. It has the make-up and general appearance of the best metropolitan dailies, and it keeps up that pace and continues with such a line of advertising, there is no reason why it shouldn't be self-sustaining.

JOY WALKING.

Out in Kansas City, three or four years ago, they adopted police regulations to compel pedestrians to observe due caution in the streets. The New York Press. It was complained that too many were utterly regardless of such rules as keeping to the right or watching where they were going. The police adopted a program not only of holding up people that undertook to cross streets without giving attention, but that walked along the sidewalk reading newspapers and expecting other people to get out of the way, the Press continues:

Particularly was there effort to compel due regard to the obligation which is on the pedestrian to contribute his share toward safety at crossings. Every town has its number of walkers who deliberately take advantage of vehicles to discommode and worry drivers. The countryman who saw-sawed his vehicle back and forth across the road because he hated to let a motor car pass was of the type of this pedestrian of the city. The number of these has been rapidly lessened in the country, but there are too many of them in the town.

Some regulations against "joy walking" would supplement excellently the rules for the government of drivers.—Emporia Gazette.

A BIG DAY'S WORK.

The people of Alabama will have a good many troubles next year that the Alabama Legislature cannot relieve them of, but the legislature can take some of the burdens off them. It can cut out sixty-seven county back tax commissioners and do away with the roving state tax commission. It most certainly does look like the time has come to put a stop to this constant effort to jackknife more and yet more tax money out of the pockets of the people. The state tax commission has outlived its usefulness. It was created to put upon the statute books taxable property that was escaping. That work has been completed and the commission should go. The past four years has been spent by the commission not in the endeavor to get escaping property on the books but in jacking up values of that already on. It's time to call a halt.—Opelika News.

The legislature will do a big day's work if it succeeds in killing only these offices, but there are others marked for slaughter.

At this time when real estate is depressed to half its cash value, or lower, if forced to sell, the people shouldn't be expected to give such property in at what they have been assessing it and then have that valuation priced up by a tax commissioner because the county commissioners haven't the nerve to oppose such work.

You haven't heard any howl yet to what will go up if they ever get that solvent credit law to operating. It seems that it has been in the courts for a try-out since its passage, till recently, and it is giving many people trouble.

A merchant may pay taxes on his stock of goods, say $10,000, and then sell them out on a credit, and be forced to pay the solvent credit tax on the same property again.

This matter of extracting money from the people through some form of taxation will have to go on so long as this is a state, but there is a just and right way of doing it.

NEW MACHINERY OF WAR.

In this war, for the first time, the submarine has justified the hopes of its inventor, who died only a short time before war was declared. Up to the present war the submarine had not positively scored a single victory. It had cost many lives, but they were of its own crews. If the average efficiency already achieved shall be carried out in the great fleets of submarines yet in reserve, the policy of navies may have to be revised. The aeroplane has proved its value and necessity, and has already met expectations. At this writing the dirigibles have accomplished practically nothing. A few bombs have been dropped here and there, blowing up cathedrals, hospitals, and private houses, and killing a few women and children, but with one exception have caused no particular damage to either navy or army. What opportunities the dark, foggy days of December will afford, may change conditions materially, but thus far the dirigible is more a threat than an execution. The big siege guns are really only enlargements and development of artillery used for years.

The motor vehicle is something to credit with great performances and is used for the first time on a large scale. Every type of motor car seems to find a wide field of usefulness. The city motor bus for moving infantry rapidly, transfers small bodies of troops as far in an hour as they could march in a day, and delivers the men fresh for action. The armored car has given a good account of itself in scouting; the touring car for officers' work and dispatches; while for transporting supplies and for ambulance service, cars similar to those in general use have made good everywhere. For hauling heavy guns, the motor is vastly easier to manage than horses or mules. It is true this war is being waged in countries noted for their good roads, but the efficiency, capacity and rapidity of the motor vehicle of war has demonstrated wholly on animals for dous advantage accruing to the army so equipped over one that is dependent wholly on animals for transportation.—H. H. Windsor in the December Popular Mechanics Magazine.

OIL TREATMENT FOR STOMACH TROUBLES

A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold by first class druggists everywhere. It is now sold here by W. L. Brown, 28

NATION'S LABOR PROBLEM

Over a million and a half Women Work as Farm Hands in the United States.

By Peter Radford
Editor National Farmers' Union.

Our government never faced so tremendous a problem as that now lying dormant at the doors of Congress and the legislatures, and which, when aroused, will shake this nation from center to circumference, and make civilization hide its face in shame. That problem is—women in the field. The last Federal census reports show we now have 1,514,000 women working in the field, most of them south of the Mason and Dixon line. There were approximately a million negro slaves working in the fields when liberated by the emancipation proclamation. We have freed our slaves and our women have taken their places in bondage. We have broken the shackles off the negroes and welded them upon our daughters.

The Chain-Gang of Civilization.
A million women in bondage in the southern fields form the chain-gang of civilization—the industrial tragedy of the age. There is no overseer quite so cruel as that of unrestrained greed, no whip that stings like the lash of suborned destiny, and no auctioneer's block quite so revolting as that of organized avarice.

The president of the United States was recently lauded by the press, and very properly so, for suggesting mediation between the engineers and railroad managers in adjusting their schedule of time and pay. The engineers threatened to strike if their wages were not increased from approximately ten to eleven dollars per day and service reduced from ten to eight hours and a similar readjustment of the overtime schedule. Our women are working in the field, many of them barefooted, for less than 50 cents per day, and their schedule is the rising sun and the evening star, and after the day's work is over they milk the cows, slop the hogs and rock the baby to sleep. Is anyone mediating over their problems, and to whom shall they threaten a strike? Congress has listened approvingly to those who toil at the forge and behind the counter, and at the threats and have fanned the flame of unrest among industrial laborers. But women are as surely the final victims of industrial warfare as they are the burden-bearers in the war between nations, and those who arbitrate and mediate the differences between capital and labor should not forget that when the expenses of any industry are unnecessarily increased, society foots the bill by drafting a new consignment of women from the home to the field.

Pinch No Crumb From Women's Crust of Bread.

No financial award can be made without some one footing the bill, and we commend to those who accept the responsibility of the distribution of industrial justice, the still small voice of the woman in the field as she pleads for mercy, and we beg that they pinch no crumb from her crust of bread or put another patch upon her ragged garments.

We beg that they listen to the scream of horror from the eagle on every American dollar that is wrung from the brow of toiling women and hear the Goddess of Justice hiss at a verdict that increases the want of woman to satisfy the greed of man.

The women behind the counter and in the factory cry aloud for sympathy and the press thunders out in their defense and the pulpit pleads for mercy, but how about the woman in the field? Will not these powerful exponents of human rights turn their talent, energy and influence to her relief? Will the Goddess of Liberty enthroned at Washington hold the calloused hand and soothe the feverish brow of her sex who sows and reaps the nation's harvest or will she permit the male of the species to shove women—weak and weary—from the bread-line of industry to the back alleys of poverty?

Women and Children First.

The census enumerators tell us that of the 1,514,000 women who work in the fields as farm hands 402,000 are sixteen years of age and under. What is the final destiny of a nation whose future mothers spend their girlhood days behind the plow, pitching hay and hauling manure, and what is to become of womanly culture and refinement that grace the home, charm society and enthrone man to leap to glory in noble achievements if our daughters are raised in the society of the ox and the companionship of the plow?

In that strata between the ages of sixteen and forty-five are 950,000 women working as farm hands and many of them with suckling babes tugging at their breast, as drenched in perspiration, they wield the scythe and guide the plow. What is to become of that nation where poverty breaks the crowns of the queens of the home; despair hurls a mother's love from its throne and hunger drives innocent children from the school-room to the hoe?

The census bureau shows that 155,000 of these women are forty-five years of age and over. There is no more pitiful sight in civilization than these saintly mothers of Israel stooped with age, drudging in the field from sun until sun and at night drenching their dingy pillows with the tears of despair as their aching hearts take it all to God in prayer. Civilization strikes them a blow when it should give them a crown, and their only friend is He who broke bread with beggars and said: "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest."

Oh, America! the land of the free and the home of the brave; the world's custodian of chivalry, the champion of human rights and the defender of the oppressed—shall we permit our maidens fair to be torn from the hearthstone by the ruthless hand of destiny and chained to the plow? Shall we permit our faithful wives, whom we covenanted with God to cherish and protect, to be hurled from the home to the harvest field, and our mothers dear to be driven from the old arm chair to the cotton patch?

In rescuing our citizens from the forces of civilization, can we not apply to our fair Dixieland the rule of the sea—"women and children first?"

haps the issue has never been fairly raised, but the Farmers' Union, with a membership of ten million, puts its organized forces squarely behind the issue and we now enter upon the docket of civilization the case of "The Woman in the Field" and demand an immediate trial.

LIFE IS REAL

Life is what we make out of it, and if we fail to make the best of the situation that is confronting us today we have failed to appreciate life as we should, and especially in this so when you continue to PAY HIGH RENTS when you could OWN YOUR OWN PROPERTY by paying this rent money as a payment on a home.

We have some ideal homes that we can sell with A SMALL CASH PAYMENT, and the remainder paid just like you was paying rent, and if you are awake to the true situation you will change your tactics, and consider THE FUTURE instead of THE PRESENT.

Marriage of Mr. Maines and

Miss Stokes—

The following account of the wedding of Miss Stokes to Mr. Maines will be read with interest here, where Miss Stokes is pleasantly known:

A quiet but most attractive home wedding, and one of great interest to their many friends, was that of Mr. Frank Maines, of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Irene Lee Stokes of Abbeville, Ala.

The marriage was solemnized on Tuesday, November 21st at noon, in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. William Joseph Lee, of Abbeville. The reception hall and parlor were prettily decorated for the occasion with ferns, palms and tall vases of white chrysanthemums. Pink roses and ferns were used in the dining room, where an enjoyable six o'clock dinner and reception were given the evening before by Mrs. Lee to a few friends in honor of the young couple.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Bessie Lee Cannady, of Jackson, Ala. The guests were limited to the immediate relatives of the bride and her grandmother.

The bride wore a lovely going away costume of green cloth with a small hat of taupe, trimmed in green feathers. Her furs were mink, edged with ermine. She wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Maines is a beautiful young woman of the blonde type, and pos-

A CONFESSION

Hager, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Ella Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good."

Before I commenced using Cardui, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a tired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches constantly.

Since taking Cardui, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything seems to digest all right, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight.

If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer.

For half a century, Cardui has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the woman's constitution, and helps build the weakened organs back to health and strength.

Cardui has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

possesses a most gracious and charming manner. The groom is a prominent and successful young business man of Kansas City, Mo.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Reverend John Franklin Gable, of Montgomery, a former pastor of the bride. After a delicious luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Maines left on the noon train for a wedding trip, and after the first of December will be at home to their friends at Hadden Hall, Kansas City, Mo.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Mrs. R. T. Ghent has returned from a delightful visit to relatives and friends in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Polk have returned from their wedding trip and are at home with Mrs. Annie Polk on South Gates street.

Miss Mattie Mae Porter left Monday for a visit to relatives in Cedar Springs, Ga. She was accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Kelley of Headland. Miss Willie Kelley has returned to her home in Headland.

Miss Frances Cobb left Monday for Quitman to visit relatives. Miss Cobb has been the attractive guest of Mrs. J. L. Crawford.

Mrs. J. R. Faircloth left this morning for Bainbridge, to visit her sister.

M. V. White of Taylor, was here today.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Frank Valentin have returned from a several days trip to Clayton.
